

Partnerships for pathways to Higher Education and science engagement in Regional Clusters of Open Schooling

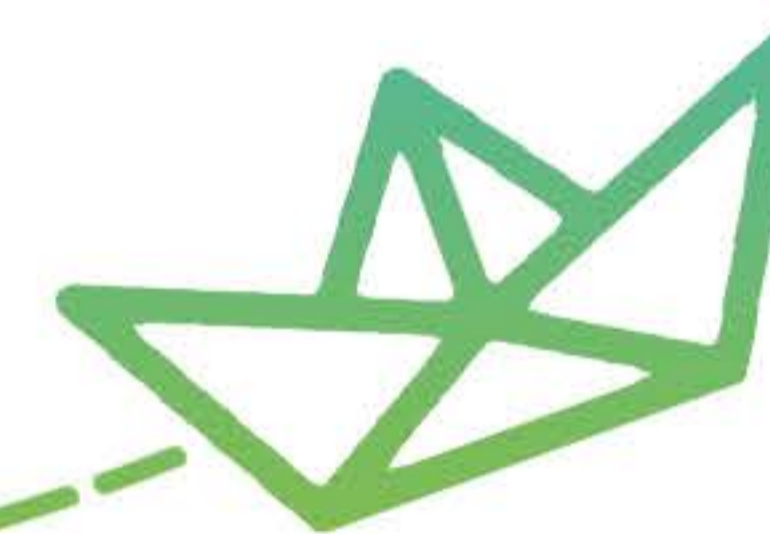

PHERECLOS

Transnational Mentoring Partnership (TEMP) program provides an opportunity to realize small scale initiatives related to Open Schooling and mutual learning among mentoring partners in the framework of the PHERECLOS

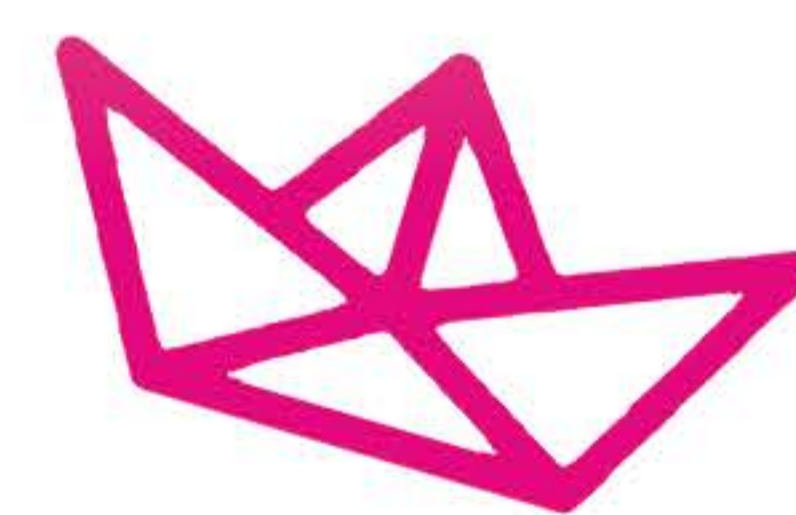

TEMP CONSORTIUM

The month of March was dedicated to identify the opinion and needs of the educational professionals in terms of methodologies, resources, curricula, through surveys and online Focus Groups, which have been further analyzed and summarized in a report.

The main objective of the Focus Groups Activities was to identify attitudes, beliefs, practices and needs among educational professionals from Spain and Greece in order to develop a documented report concerning their experiences, practices regarding innovative educational methodologies.

Each partner of our TEMP conducted one Focus Group with their own target group in order to have a broad vision of the topic in the different fields of the formal and non-formal educational systems.

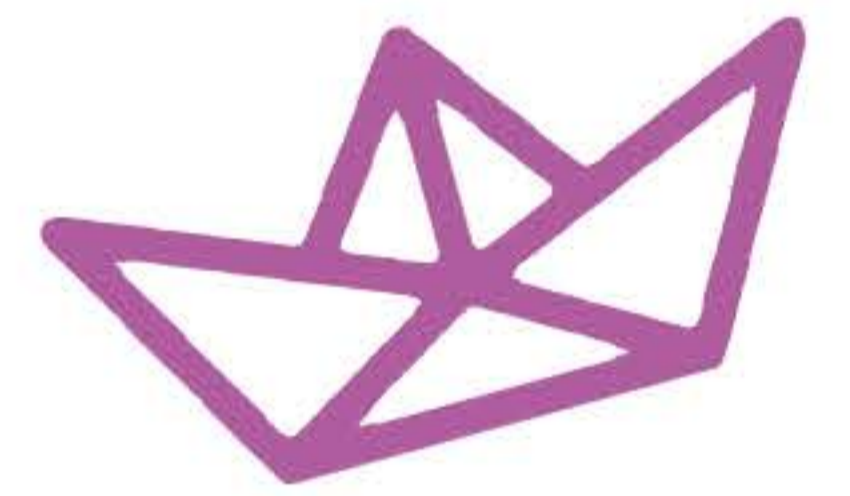

The overall conclusions of the 4 Focus Groups stated that improvements should be made in all four areas of the educational system: curricula, methodologies applied as well as resources and approaches towards the students in order to ensure an appropriated learning process, matching the real needs of fast-changing real world. The necessity of innovative methodologies such as (Personalized learning, Project-Based learning, Real Word learning, Place-based learning) and the importance of STEM learning were highlighted as priorities in ensuring an appropriate and useful teaching and learning trajectory.
